OCEANCO AND LLOYD'S REGISTER SIGN LANDMARK AGREEMENT AT MONACO YACHT SHOW

In a celebration of innovation, trust and maritime excellence, Oceanco and Lloyd's Register have signed a contract for the classification and certification of the largest yacht to be built by Oceanco.

The signing took place during the Monaco Yacht Show at Port Hercule, recognized as the capital of yachting and in the presence of the Yacht Club de Monaco, a cornerstone of the global yachting community and a symbol of Monaco's maritime legacy.

This milestone marks a new chapter in a 38-year partnership. Oceanco, a pioneer in next-generation yacht design and construction, joins forces once again with Lloyd's Register the steadfast guardian of maritime safety and quality.

"This vessel represents not only a leap in scale but also in ambition," said Marcel Onkenhout, CEO at Oceanco. "Oceanco has embarked on an ambitious next chapter, pushing further on design, innovation and sustainability. Collaborating with Lloyd's Register ensures that our boldest visions are realized with uncompromising safety and quality".

Engel-Jan de Boer, Yacht Segment Director at Lloyd's Register, added "Our enduring relationship with Oceanco is built on mutual respect and a shared pursuit of excellence. This project exemplifies what can be achieved when innovation meets integrity".

The 130m/426.5ft yacht, whose full specifications remain confidential at this stage, is expected to redefine the industry with unmatched capabilities, design sophistication and operational range.

With Monaco as the epicenter of yachting, this news underlines Oceanco and Lloyd's Register as pioneers of the industry's future and celebrates another milestone in Oceanco's ambitious new era.
